DIED.

On Wednesday evening, the 10th inst., at her home in Culpeper County, Va., in the 45th year of her age, LUCY E., wife of Caleb Burnley, esq., and daughter of the late Conway Spilman. In this feeble tribute to the worth and goodness of one of the best of the daughters of earth, we would fain impress those she has left behind, with the beauty of the example which she gave of the most attractive virtues that adorn humanity. At a tender age the charge was given her of the nurture and care of her brothers and a sister, all younger than berself, which she discharged with maternal tenderness and affection. Accustomed thus early to live for the comfort and happiness of others, she was ever found through subsequent life, the most unselfish of human beings. The only limit to her kindness and good deeds towards all, was that which the want of means alone imposed. No human want or suffering ever passed her unrelieved, which her bounty sould supply .-Day by day and year by year, she lived and moved to promote comfort and happiness of others around her, without one thought of self ever min-gling with the pure stream of her benevolence.

For more than twenty years, Mrs. B. was a member of the Baptist Church, and exhibited in her daily life the brightest example of christian character. Her quiet manner and gentle demeanor, betokened the depth of piety by which her 27 Saturday 5 7 6 49 New 9 5 59 M conduct was always regulated. She never murmured at the dispensations of Providence; and through the protracted sufferings of her last illness, no word or complaint escaped her lips. Utterly ignoring self, and torgetful of her bodily pains, she was solicitous to the last about the welfare and happiness of those who surrounded her. If ever human heart was untainted by selfishness, her's was the altar on which burned the pure flame of benevo lence and kindness. And when she passed away from earth, there was one ministering angel less to assauge the bitterness of its sorrows. The most dutiful of daughters, the gentlest of sisters, the most devoted of mothers, the most affectionate and considerate of wives, the kindest and best of friends, and the meekest and humblest of christians, hers was the

May He who "tempers the wind to the shorn lamb," remember in their bereavement and infancy the little ones, who have lost such a mother's care; and may those of maturer years, who have been stricken, find consolation and joy in realizing that, their loss is her eternal gain.

In Warrenton, Fauquier county, on Monday morning, at a quarter past 1 o'clock, A. M., CHARLES B. TEBBS, esq., in the 35th year of his age. In the death of this most excellent and worthy young man, our community has been deprived of one of its best citizens, and his friends of a gentleman beloved and admired by a large circle of acquaintances. Mr. Tebbs had been a resident of Warrenton about fourteen years, during which time he had won the respect and confidence of the entire community. No man who ever knew him could say one word in disparagement of his claims, as a true and honorable gentleman. and deep will be the sorrows of those who dearly loved him, when this simple announcement tells | cinal use, with his certificate on the bottle : warthem that he is gone. He was a man of honor, of probity, of high and noble bearing, kind and generous in all the relations of life, and truly can we say, "None knew him but to love him, None named him but to praise."

The author of this feeble and humble tribute to his memory, made his acquaintance about five years since, and during the length of that acquaintanc- had learned to love him for his many noble his eyes when the death damp pall gathered thick | medicinal use, the best Wine ever offered for sale and fast upon his brow. In all the relations of life, he was indeed a true and generous hearted perfectly pure. man. In the early dawn of manhood, he has been taken away with the flush of youth upon his manly brow; he has been hurried beyond the dark, confines of eternity; but though time may roll our and years may pass away, his memory will ever be held in sincere remembrance.

In the full hope of a glorious immortality, the spirit of our dead friend took its flight to that peaceful land, "to mingle with the just made perfect in the eternal adoration of the living God." "Peace to Lis ashes." (Sentinol, Warrenton and Richmond papers, please
